

SecurityMan Debuts Carcam-SD

The Carcam-SD brings justice to traffic accidents

Ontario, California, November 18th, 2013 – SecurityMan is proud to release its latest security product to its customers, spreading its ingenuity towards the automotive market. The Carcam-SD, which comes with numerous features such as high definition (HD) quality video and automatic recording, is an effective product to help capture evidence of automotive accidents.

According to the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, there were an estimated 5 million police-reported traffic crashes for the year 2010 and 2011 (reported on 2012 and 2013, respectively). While the number of accidents is arbitrary and statistics only include reported accidents, there is a way to be certain of who caused the accident.

To prevent false accusations or misrepresentations, SecurityMan's Carcam-SD can capture on-going or unusual motion detection (G-sensor recording)/crash video footage on the road that is required by California VC Section 26708. Once it has been captured on camera, the evidence has been saved on file.

"The Carcam-SD comes with 1080p HD quality video that has a built-in impact sensor (a.k.a. G-sensor)", said Fred Mu, SecurityMan's General Manager. "Drivers won't need to worry about whether they lost the file since the Carcam-SD saves and locks the recorded file upon impact".

This hassle-free device automatically turns on and begins recording once you start your vehicle. With its auto-overwrite option and capable of holding up to 32 GB of video, the Carcam-SD can be ran continuously without the necessity of backing up files after every car trip. Other features include a 130 degree wide angle lens with a 270 degree turning camera (for possible application of passenger recording), a 1.5" LCD screen for instant viewing/reviewing on-the-go, smart 30-second screen sleep mode to avoid driving-and-watching at the same time, and a built-in microphone for audio recording.

The MSRP of Carcam-SD is only $99.99. For more information about the Carcam-SD, please visit SecurityMan's website at www.securitymaninc.com or feel free to contact them at (909) 230-6668.
